ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

Fresh Fish daily at Restaurant Royal.
Now is the time to buy farms from John Duley.

This is the last day for payment of May 1st gas bills.

The new chairs for the Council Chamber have arrived. They are much more comfortable than the old ones.

Ladies of the First Presbyterian Church will serve icecream and strawberries from 7 to 10 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Church.

Mr. Thomas Kinney, aged 18, died at Portsmouth, O., Friday night of measles. His remains were brought here yesterday and buried in the Catholic Cemetery at Washington.

The funeral of the late Colonel W. W. Baldwin will occur from "Auvergne" at 2:30 this afternoon, with services by the Revs. W. W. Hall and P. A. Cave of the Christian Church, the interment to follow in Maysville Cemetery.

The following gentlemen have been selected to act as honorary pall bearers at the funeral of Colonel W. W. Baldwin this afternoon—Dr. Thomas E. Pickett, J. Foster Barbour, Judge G. S. Wall, W. H. Wadsworth, Judge A. M. J. Cochran, C. L. Sallee, W. P. Smoot and Frank B. Clift.

George Wilson and John Clayton, two colored dining-room waiters at the Central Hotel, got into an altercation last evening, and Wilson inflicted several wounds on Clayton's head and face with an ice-pick. Considerable blood was spilled, but no serious damage sustained. Dr. Reed dressed the wounds of the injured man.

Ladies, don't fail to see my new line of Hatpins, Bracelets, Neckchains and Lockets, Brooches, Dress Pins. Gold and Silver Handbags, the very latest. Gentlemen's Fobs, Scarf Pins, Chains, Charms and Signet Rings, Walking Canes, Studs, Emblem Pins for all Orders.

On account of the serious illness of Miss Iro Carpenter of Paris, who has many relatives in this country, her marriage to C. H. Gibson, which was announced for Wednesday, has been indefinitely postponed.

CLAYPOOL—M'ROBERTS.
Mr. Luther W. Claypool, aged 21, and Miss Mary A. McRoberts, aged 17, of this city, were married Saturday in the County Clerk's office, "Squire" J. O. Pickrell officiating. The mother of the bride signed bond.

MRS. MICHAEL SLATTERY.
Mrs. Michael Slattery died suddenly of heart trouble yesterday morning at 2 o'clock at her home on Tuckahoe.

Deceased was born in Ireland 61 years ago, and at an early age immigrated to this country. She leaves a husband and ten children—six sons and four daughters—besides a brother and sister at Paris.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 9:30 from St. Patrick's Church. Interment in Washington Cemetery.

GRAPE JUICE

Absolutely the unfermented juice of Concord grapes. It is delicious and very beneficial to both sick and well. Served with crushed ice, is a delightful summer drink. Ask for the Fernell Brand. 15c and 50c bottles.

TELEPHONE No. 43. G. W. GEISEL, OPPOSITE OPERA-HOUSE.

The Maysville Screen Company, now that fly time is here, has something of especial interest to say in another column.

The Rev. Hugh Y. Harvin, a graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and District Superintendent of the Kentucky Children's Home Society, died Friday at the residence of his mother in Oakwoods, Fleming county, of typhoid fever, aged 29. He had been ill for about five weeks, but was not considered in a dangerous condition until a few hours before his death.

THE CIRCUS HERE

Robinson's Big Shows Ready For Two Performances Today

John Robinson's Ten Big Shows, the oldest, largest and best, are in Maysville for two performances, 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. Doors open at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m.

Many citizens looked the monster aggregation over yesterday. At 2 p. m. most of these citizens listened to Rev. W. H. Sheak, the Methodist Minister with the show, preach on "Poker Playing." During his sermon he told this funny story: A rolling mill man at Fronton, O., several years ago played poker every Saturday night and always lost all his weekly earnings. One Saturday night the keeper refused him admittance, because the game was filled. The man took his money and threw it through the open transom to the players, saying, "Take it, you rascals; you'll get it anyhow."

The street parade moved at 10 a. m. It was two miles in length. Its like was never seen before. It cost $300,000.

The horses, ponies and wagons used only in parade will be taken to the show train and loaded at dusk. These are no part of the big show and are hurried to the next town as "The Flying Squadron."

See the new Cut Glass at McCarthey's. Captain Alex Calhoun is now in command of the steamer Courier.

Miss Davis's Silver Soap at Miss Amelia Wood's room, Court street.

Saturday evening about 5 o'clock streetcar No. 4, in turning into Market street, struck a rock and bounded from the rails and ran quite a distance up Second. It took Captain Holliday and his corps of workmen over an hour to place it back on the track.

Jesse Bradley, a fifteen-year-old lad, was beside a horse Saturday afternoon and as he turned out of Second into Market the animal slipped and fell on the iron crossing. In the fall the boy's leg received the full weight of the horse. His only injury was a badly sprained ankle.

Take shares in the People's Building Association. Twenty-fourth series now open. Apply to E. A. Robinson, J. E. Threlkeld, Gordon Sulser or other Directors.

A valuable young horse belonging to Mr. William Phelam ran a thorn several inches long into its foot. The services of Dr. Phillips were required in removing it.

SALE OF Silk Shirtwaist Suits

You will grant this is a charming collection as soon as you see it. The suits are taffeta silk in gray, blue, green, red and black, in varying styles—plaited, tucked, stitched; the waists with and without lace yokes. While wearing time has just begun for you it is time for us to give these attractive frocks their ticket-of-leave and in this way we do it—

ALL $18 SUITS NOW $15
ALL $25 SUITS NOW $20
ALL $30 SUITS NOW $25

BARGAINS IN MUSLIN UNDERWEAR. Gowns, Skirts and Corset Covers with one-third the regular price clipped off. The garments are quite soiled from handling and you'll not find a full, size assortment, in the lot—that's the why of this price cut. Look for these bargains on a table to the left as you enter the store.

Mr. Harry Miles, whose interesting letter on the Frisco quake appears elsewhere, is now in Birmingham, Ala.

Invitations have been issued for the approaching marriage of Miss Eva Estelle Roberson and Mr. L. Warder Dye of Kansas City. The wedding will take place Monday, May 21st, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Roberson, in East Second street.

Judge A. M. Cochran of the United States District Court will hear arguments in this city tomorrow on the question of a sale of the Morehead and West Liberty Railroad properties. The sale is asked for by the mechanics, who hold liens for the work of construction. The holders of first mortgage claim to have first lien on the properties.

MASON CROP REPORT

The Poor Little Pessimists Given a Blooming Black Eye

Colonel Charles C. Degman of Springdale, who is Uncle Sam's crop forecaster for this county, says the condition of wheat is rather thin on the ground, not having stooled well, and is also rather short, possibly because of the continued dry April weather. The crop at this time is estimated at 85% of a normal growth. About the usual quantity of rye was sown last fall, and its condition is estimated at 90% of a normal crop. At least 60% is, or will be, turned under, leaving about 40% for market.

Oats were mostly lately sown, but is coming forward nicely, considering the dry weather. The same may be said of clover and other grasses sown this spring.

Pastures are very good, but a little short. Fruits of all kinds except peaches will be abundant, from the fact their present condition is very satisfactory. Peaches were winter killed in many localities, but a fine, healthy bloom where they were not killed indicates a fine supply of them, barring future unfavorable weather. Stock of all kinds is showing improved conditions.

Of the corn land 60% is plowed and 40% is planted.

Gardens are coming out nicely. The farmer that kicks in Mason county now, since the late rains, should not be allowed to kick at any one save himself.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Mrs. Millard Merz gave a delightful Bridge Luncheon Friday afternoon. Every detail of the charming affair was carried out with the perfection that characterizes Mrs. Merz's art as a hostess.

The hospitable home of Mrs. Clarence Wood was opened Saturday to do honor to her charming guest, Mrs. Frank Mannen, of Minneapolis. Six-hand eurehe engaged the attention of the guests until late in the afternoon, when a delicious collation was served.

Mrs. Frank Barkley entertained with eurehe Saturday afternoon complimentary to Mrs. Sam English of Louisville. Beautiful appointments, handsome prizes, congenial guests and a toothsome repast combined to make it a delightful affair.

Mr. F. T. Cavendish of Huntington, W. Va., was in the city Saturday visiting the various stock farms with the view of buying a few thoroughbreds.

The Sayo of the Laiety

PRESERVE THE ESPLANADE.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., May 4th, 1906.
Editor of The Ledger: In answer to your question, "Are you in favor of tearing away the Esplanade, the only public breathing place we have in the city, and converting it into a street?" I wish to say I am not in favor of so doing; but I am in favor of the city taking proper care of it, and making it a place of beauty that we all can feel proud of. This can be done by painting, and by planting two trees, which we need badly, and thereby taking care of same; also, by moving the benches, which seem to hold such charm for the numerous time idlers. Then by seeing that there is water to quench the thirst of the public, which every city should do. It is indeed a poor city that fails in this.

I am also in favor of erecting a bronze statue on the Esplanade to the memory of General Nelson, who saved the day at Shiloh, and I am willing to contribute my mite toward the same.

"Man From Maysville"

Writes Graphically of the San Francisco Earthquake and Fire

case and began our tiresome journey to some place—we didn't know where. We also took a pillow and quilt to sleep on, and they came in quite handy several times. We got to the head of Eddy street, which ends in a Cemetery on a high hill, and some good lady near there took care of us in the eating and sleeping line for two or three days.

The streets were lined with thousands of people pulling trunks or anything they could save through the streets. Women were working the same as men, and rich and poor were all on the same level. All the parks and Cemeteries soon became crowded with people, trunks, bedclothes and everything imaginable.

The rumor went all over the city that a wireless telegram had been received saying Chicago was under water and that New York and other Eastern cities were in the same condition as Frisco. It was also rumored that seven thousand and people had been killed outright in Los Angeles. A great many people thought that Judgment Day had come.

As I saw the people fleeing from the flames, it reminded me of the description of the people fleeing from Pompeii as depicted by Bulwer Lytton. Certainly the calamity of Frisco would furnish as good a foundation for a beautiful story as did the destruction of Pompeii, if only another Bulwer Lytton writes the story.

The flames at night were the most beautiful and sublime spectacle I ever expect to see.

The air was so filled with smoke that the sun looked bloodred, and you could look straight at it all day long. The air was filled with cinders for miles and miles, and for two days and nights it rained cinders, and the tin roofing from houses was carried around through the air like paper. The asphalt streets were burned to dust and the heat was so intense that it could be felt as far away as you could get from the fire.

The prettiest sight was when they would dynamite some large building at night.

First, the roar of the explosion, followed immediately by the crash of the building as it collapsed, then a cloud of smoke and vivid flames like lightning would shoot several hundred feet into the air.

The flames would leap from one tower to another and make the midnight bright as day. They seemed to be carrying the message of death and suffering into the very sky. Their roar and crackling could be heard for over a mile.

The soldiers would take block at a time and dynamite the entire block. Chinatown was blown completely out of existence.

The soldiers and firemen made their last desperate stand at Van Ness avenue, which is the widest in the city, and used front doors and everything of the sort to keep the heat off.

215 COURT STREET.
PHONE 333.
Maysville, Ky.

And many other animals will be in the free street parade on Monday, and large crowds will take delight in hearing the music and viewing the wonders of the great show. JOHN DULEY will give you a better SHOW for your money if you will call at his office and get a list of farms, which will be free to all. He will also give you a good show if you wish to buy a house and lot. This fleeting pleasure which our uncle John Robinson agrees to furnish at 50c per head is only for an hour or two. The show which I propose to give you will be for a life time. You will think the scenes within the canvass are grand, inspiring, soul-stirring and all that, but if you will go with me to look at some of the farms that I have for sale I can show you more wonders and more beauties in one hour's time than you will see within the tents of this show in a lifetime.

Trusting that you will call and let me prove to you that the show which I will give you is better than Robinson's Forepaugh's, Sells Bros., Barnum's, William Cody's, Boer War or any of the grand traveling aggregations, I remain yours, determined to give you a fair and a good show,

"The Man From Maysville."

The fire crossed the avenue in two or three places but burned only a few blocks after it crossed, till it was under control and finally checked for good. And then how the good news spread and people cheered and those few who had homes left breathed easy once more and began unpacking.

The reign of Martial Law, although indispensable, added to the horrors on account of the young cadets and militia shooting many an innocent man. If it had not been for the U. S. Regulars, no telling what would have happened. They did noble service and certainly proved themselves heroes. Any one who saw them work need not wonder why the "Boys in Blue" are invincible. The grocers began charging fifty cents for a loaf of bread, and other things were sold at prices in proportion till the Regulars found it out. They would simply kick the grocer out of his store and then distribute the goods among the people. Money was of very little use, for everything was being given away in about two days after the fire began.

I have stood in line an hour and a half to get a loaf of bread, and everyone in the city was doing the same thing. In fact you couldn't get anything at all without standing in line for it.

No lights or fires were allowed in the houses, so all the cooking was done on a little campfire in the middle of the street. Some people just moved their stoves out in the street, and most all the cooking was done by the men. I helped cook several meals, but the meals only consisted in a loaf of bread, a little coffee and a can of something. Everyone seemed to take it good naturedly, however, and joked about it considerably.

Some of the young people across the street from us got a bill of fare from some place and tacked it up on a post near their stove. The only ones who were too sad to joke were the people who had lost some near and dear relative. It was a pathetic sight to see a family which had become separated looking for each other.

There were thirty-six distinct shocks before I left and I have read of two since. On the first day I sat down at the table twice and tried to drink a cup of coffee and eat a slice of bread, and both times a shock came and I finished the bread in the middle of the street.

The beautiful $6,000,000 City Hall, which took twenty-five years to build, was shaken almost to dust. The new Postoffice is cracked on the outside and shaken to pieces on the inside. The Mint was unharmed, and it made me good to see "Old Glory" still floating in the breeze when ruin and destruction were all around. The magnificent hotels, the St. Francis and the Fairmount, though still standing, are nothing but shells.

A great many people have asked me if the newspapers did not exaggerate the disaster. The papers may have had a few untrue accounts about it, but they can never tell half of the suffering which the people endured nor half describe the ruins, for they cannot be described. No one who was not there can ever be made to realize the full extent of the misery and how completely "Frisco" is wiped off the map.

I lingered amid the ruins eight days before I could fully decide to leave, for I realized I would not find another city like "Frisco" any place in this country.

I fully expect to return some day, but of course I can't tell just when.

Several persons have asked me why I didn't stay. They said there would be great opportunities for any one now. I don't pay much attention to them, for I realize they don't understand the situation there. It is simply a case of "Where ignorance is bliss."

I will never forget the generous hospitality which was accorded the homeless by the ones who had homes, and also the people of Oakland and community.

Dear old Kentucky, with all her boasted hospitality can never surpass, and will have to awaken if she equals, the noble people of California in their generosity.

But the entire country has been responding nobly to appeals for aid, and I see by the clipping from THE LEDGER which you sent me, that Maysville is not lagging.

Here are a few of the signs tacked on the freight cars which are being rushed to the relief, laden with provisions:

"Flour for unfortunate 'Frisco from the citizens of Nevada, Mo." "To the Mayor of San Francisco. Relief from Denver. More to follow," and many similar placards.

I could tell you enough about "Frisco," before and after the fire, to fill a book, but I am tired writing and I know you will be tired of reading all this.

I honestly believe if you were to go to the middle of the Sahara Desert you would find the "Man from Maysville."

The train I came East on, stopped at a small town—Gallup, N. M.—to take water. I got off the train for a little exercise and thought I was out of existence way down there among the sandhills. I went into a little drugstore and wrote a postal and gave it to the clerk to mail for me. He looked at the address and said, "Are you from Maysville?" When I told him I was, he said his name was Crutcher, and he was born in Maysville, and his father was a Christian Minister. The only Maysville family he knew was the McDouglas; said he left Maysville over twenty years ago, when he was quite young.

With love and best wishes, HARRY.

Saturday, May 19th, on Magnificent Steamer "Princess"

There's a grand treat in store for people of our city and the surrounding country!

It is with pleasure that we note that the Princess Excursion Company of Cincinnati has arranged for a grand excursion to be conducted out of this city, landing at Maysville on the evening of May 19th, at 8 p. m.

The Princess is one of the finest pleasure steamers on inland waters. She has elegant promenade decks and observation cabins, a spacious dancing pavilion, etc. Her capacity is 1,600 people allowed by the Government. We cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that she is owned by a company of gentlemen who are thoroughly familiar with the river excursion business, who have an unassailable reputation for conducting excursions in the most proper and orderly manner, looking faithfully after the comfort and pleasure of the patrons. Nothing more delightful can be imagined than a ride on the river in the merry month of May, when all nature is awakening under the magic kiss of spring. Taking all this into consideration, and the fact that the excursion is to be under the auspices of such a well known and reputable organization, there is every reason to believe that the outing will be a grand success. Tickets will be 50¢ for adults and 25¢ for children.

GOOD NEWS

FOR YOU!

We have vehicle news for you that is too good to keep. You know all material is higher than ever before and still climbing. Perhaps you think this will make our prices too high for you.

You are mistaken.

We bought at the old prices, and will sell accordingly. These prices indicate what our vehicles are worth to us only. You will find them worth much more to you. Our stock is larger and more varied than ever.

What's your need or fancy? We have it at a price you are used to, and quality that you are not used to for the money. Your dollar will stretch like rubber, doing extra duty on a vehicle purchased from us. Now is the time, when the stock is new and full, to drop in and look around before the best things have been picked out by the early bird. You'll get a lot of beneficial information. Even if you are not in need of anything, you are just as cordially invited and will receive the same painstaking attention.

Come in.

The wrecked towboat Hoxie is still lying at Portland, O., where she went down some three weeks ago. The wheel is now nearly out on dry land. No attempt will be made to remove the boat until the water gets lower. It is believed that the drowned fireman is still in the wreckage at the forward end of the boat. On investigation Inspectors Maddy and Morgan found that one of the boilers had
